

Baptist Church Notes.

There were 90 in Sunday school last Sunday morning. For the first time for several Sundays there were no birthday offerings.

The Agoga class had a full attendance Sunday. Glad to see some who had not been there for some time coming again. We will make room for all who will come. The class motto is: "Get Another Man."

The B. Y. P. U. is doing excellent work. There is a good attendance each time. Glad to see the boys and young men coming to these services. Chester Stender leads the meeting next Sunday evening subject: "How the Bible Condemns Intemperance." Habakkuk 2:5-15.

The church services Sunday were well attended. We were glad to see such a goodly company of men, as well as women, present at these services. Subject for Sunday morning will be: "Power with God." Evening subject: "Seven Confessions of the Bible."

A good meeting of the juniors is reported. Elizabeth Whitesides leads the meeting next Sunday.

Several young people from the Bethany neighborhood, north of town, attended services here Sunday. All are welcome.

Christian Church Notes.

November 18 at 11 a. m., "Conceptions of the Church Considered;" at 7 p. m., "The Greatest Transaction of Time."

Notice change of time for evening service to 7 p. m.

We extend to all a very kind invitation to both of the services as both subjects to be discussed vitally concern you. Then, surely, we cannot afford to draw off our spiritual life by failing to take part in the worship of Him who alone is worthy.

The Sunday school and its studies continue with much interest. Study the second chapter of John and come to the special study in the life of Christ at 9:30 a. m.

We have planned to again have a service of music, using the little leaflets used during the Northcutt and Zeran meetings. Thinking all would be glad to take part we invite you to come next Lord's day evening at 7. Other special music will be given at that time also. We shall be glad to have you come.

The meeting at Shannondale still continues and much interest is manifested. Ten additions and much influence. One offering amounted to over $70. People are talking about working some now and I am sure they mean business.

J. E. WOLFE, Pastor.

J. E. Foggin, a former grocer merchant at Brunswick, but who has been holding a position as collector on passenger trains on different roads for a few years, has again embarked in the mercantile pursuits at Brunswick, having purchased a half interest in the hardware store of E. J. Tschann at that place. We wish the new firm success.

Since sorting the stock after the splendid business of the fall I now have a nice line of hats made from odds and ends which I will close out at from $1 to $1.50.

A train on the Chicago & Alton was robbed, near Glasgow, Friday.

As the train pulled out of Slater the robber rapped for admittance on the rear door of the Pullman and the negro porter on opening the door confronted a masked man who had two large pistols leveled at him. The Pullman conductor was also "covered" and the conductor and porter were forced to awaken the passengers one at a time and relieve them of their money, which was turned over to the bandit, who refused jewelry. The robber secured about $200. While the robber was going through the car the train was crossing the bridge at Glasgow and after leaving the bridge he attempted to force an entrance into another Pullman, but was repulsed by the conductor, who slammed the door in his face. A mile east of Glasgow the robber pulled the bell-cord and as the train slowed down he jumped off and took to the woods.

C. D. Felt has just put the finishing touches on a large and well-arranged cattle barn on his farm just in the suburbs of Mendon.

J. D. Dickinson of Triplett, who, as stated in the COURIER two or three weeks ago, bought a 2-year-old jack of Eld. Henry Eubank of near that place for $450, has resold his jackship to G. W. Triplett of Triplett at a profit of $150. The present owner thinks he sees in the animal another profit of at least $400. As a get-rich-quick scheme that particular jack seems to be a success.
